The Modesty of Women

faturally makes them shrink from the indelicate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than less the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annovance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Rierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispenses with the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non - secret, all its ingredients better to submit to this ordeal than les alcoholic, non - secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; con-tains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients, will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed around the bottle, also in a bookiet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Plerce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as med-icine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of known composition. It makes weak women strong and sick

ZELAYA RESIGNS.

Jose Santos Zalaya has resigned from presidency of Nicaragua. He placed his resignation in the hands of Congress yesterday morning. Apparently there was no other course for him to take. The people were at last aroused. The gans of the revolutionists threstened. The warships of the United S'a'es lay in Nicaraguan ports. Managua has been seething for days. The spirit of revolt has spread even to the gates of the palace. Zalaya sur rounded himself with an armed guard. Unchecked, the populace have marched through the streets, crying for the end of the old and proclaiming the new regime.

Zelaya in his letter of resignation

"The country is staggering under a shameless revolution which threatens the nation's sovereignty, and a foreign nation unjustly intervenes in our affairs, publicly providing the rebels with arms which has only resulted in their being defeated everywhere through the heroism of our troops. To avoid further blood-shed, and for the reason the revolutionists have declared that they would put down their arms when I surrender the executive power, I hereby p'ace in the bands of the national assembly the abandonment of the remainder of my term of office, which is to be filled by a substitute of their choosing, with the hope that th's will result in good to Nicarsgua, the reestablishment of peace and particularly the suspension of the hostility of the United States to which I do not wish to give a pretext for intervention."

Z:laya, in spite of his abdication will not be allowed by the United States to leave Nicaregua. The program of the administration is to keep him "bottled up" in Nicaragua until the revolutisnists, under Ger. Estrade, shall have triumphed, and see that he be-comes a state prisoner of the new gov-

At to the succession of Zelays, it is predicted that the Nicarsguan congress will proceed to elect as president ad interim Dr. Jose Madriz, the judge of ing present can you give the Central American court of Cartage, who is known to have been proposed by Z laya as his successor.

DEAD MOTHER AND CHILDREN

Her suspicions aroused by the crying of children that something was wrong in the apartment of her niece, Mrs. Sadie Tebeauer, of East New York, Mrs. Mary Do you think you could do better in the way of a present for father or brother than by civilant the speak to them.

The eldest of the children, 5-year-old Paul Tebeauer, held in his hand a length of clothes line. The dead woman's head Shirts of Neckties lay back on the top of the chair, with her eyes staring upward.

The neck was fully exposed to view, and at a glance Mrs. Little saw marks that suggested that the rope had played part in a cruel tragedy.
"Where did you get that rope?" she asked the little boy. "It was around mamma's neck when we got up this morning," the child re-plied. "I took it off because it might burt her," be added.

Mrs. Little ran from the house and notified the police. Paul Tebeauer, foreman in the Dudley shoe factory, husband of the dead woman, was later arrested on a charge of homicide. They had no trouble in finding Tebesner, as We have a large assortment he had been arrested early in the day on a charge of intoxication and was of UMBRELLAS for the awaiting a hearing in the police court. The detectives examined the dead woman's neck and discovered ridges and blue and black marks upon it which showed clearly that the victim had been strangled with a rope. They Knox and Stetson Hats. found in the dining room by the side of the chair on which the body sat two other pieces of the family clothes line, one of about the same length as the piece the boy had held, the other 20 feet long. They had been freshly cut. On the floor near by lay a pair of shears, evidently those with which the clothes

> LEOPOLD'S MORGANATIO WIFE The reports from Brussels that Leo pold's morganatic union with Baroness Vaughan was regularized by a religious ceremony, confirms the belief long entertained in Paris that the king had taken every precaution to insure an inheritance to the baroness and her son, who was born early in 1908. After the baroness had divorced ber husband five years ago, the king became infatuated with her, and installed her in a chateau, on which he spent fabulous sums. It was there that the baby was born, and the king is reported to have bestowed upon him the title of "Dake of Tervoerem," the name of the gloomy domain of Belgium,

The French papers often have printed stories of how the king was seen wheeling a baby carriage over the graveled walks surrounding the chateau, and how he organized a stock company to manage his vast real estate holdings in Paris and in southern France, to insure an income for the baroness and her son in event of legal complications with his disinherited daughters after bis death.
